

Familie Levy

Regina, Gerda, Martha, Friedrich und Johanna

Regina (Dina) Levy, née Stern, was born in Höchberg on April 16, 1865. She was married to Simon Levy I., who lived in Dahn in Grabenstraße 11. On April 23, 1935, she moved to Böchingen and later to Düsseldorf. Dina Levy was deported to Theresienstadt on July 21, 1942, with Transport VII/1 and to Treblinka on September 26, 1942, with Transport Br 947, where she perished.

Gerda Levy, married Wolff, daughter of Regina and Simon Levy I., was born in Dahn on July 15, 1889, in Grabenstraße 11. She was deported together with her husband Siegfried Wolff from Heidelberg to Gurs in southern France on October 22, 1940, and to Auschwitz via Drancy/Paris on August 12, 1942, with Transport No. 18. She perished in Auschwitz.

Familie Levy

Regina, Gerda, Martha, Friedrich und Johanna

Martha Levy, married Schwarz, daughter of Regina and Simon Levy I., was born in Dahn, Grabenstraße 11, on December 14, 1890. She was married to Emil Schwarz from Pirmasens. Martha and Emil Schwarz were deported from Mannheim to Gurs in southern France on October 22, 1940. Emil Schwarz was deported to Majdanek on March 6, 1943, Martha Schwarz was deported to the East via Drancy/Paris in 1942, where she perished.

Friedrich (Fritz) Levy, son of Regina and Simon Levy I., was born in Dahn, Grabenstraße 11 on January 29, 1900. He worked as a merchant. On January 31, 1933, he moved with his family from Dahn to Pirmasens, Schäferstraße 55. On September 1, 1939, he and his wife Johanna (née Fetterer) were forced to leave Pirmasens (Red Zone) and moved to Stuttgart. There, Fritz Levy was forced to work in an industrial plant. On April 26, 1942, he was deported from Stuttgart to Izbica (Poland) and to Auschwitz in March 1943, where he perished.

Johanna Levy, née Fetterer, wife of Fritz Levy, was born in Schorndorf, Waiblingen district, on February 26, 1902. On April 26, 1942, she was deported from Stuttgart to Izbica (Poland) together with her husband Fritz Levy and to Auschwitz in March 1943, where she perished.